The knowledge sharing and networking opportunities were truly beyond expectations. The well organized sessions, well versed speakers and panelists were truly engaging. It was interesting to learn about common health system challenges and garner new insights into how to tackle them based on shared country experiences. The focus on digitization and AI in health, was timely.

What to expect

Over two half-days we will hear from leading health policymakers and executives, with attendees actively participating in discussions and networking. An exclusive Summit-only dinner on Monday evening provides an additional opportunity to deepen connections made.

- The Summit facilitates meaningful and candid dialogue and best practice sharing in order to chart a path towards health transformation and improving health outcomes globally.
- Select public sector leaders are offered a complimentary ticket to both the Summit and HLTH Europe, the parent event at which the Summit takes place, which runs from Tuesday 17 to Thursday 19 June. A small handful of Summit tickets are available to purchase for private sector executives who are not eligible for free tickets.
- In addition to the official Summit dinner on the Monday evening, food and refreshments are provided throughout the duration of the Summit and HLTH Europe at no cost. There are reception events on Tuesday and Wednesday where refreshments are also provided.
- Those with budgetary authority or influence for health solutions procurement may qualify for €750 in travel and accommodation reimbursement by participating in the Market Connect Programme. The programme matches budget-holding leaders or influencers with innovative solutions providers tailored to your upcoming needs for 8 x 15 minute, no-obligation introductory meetings. Meetings are pre-scheduled at a time of mutual convenience during the event (there are set times for meetings so participants do not miss any key programming).
